A passion for working with young people has kept NY Knicks Chaplain Love connected to the ever-shifting focus of popular culture during the past 30 years. As a camp director, he leads thousands of young people each summer in a program called Camp Life.

Chaplain Love travels the U.S. and the world as a sought-after conference speaker, and he has been the volunteer chaplain for the NBA's New York Knicks for the past 27 seasons. Over these 25 years, he has ministered to hundreds of NBA players, impacting their lives through the power of the gospel. Many of these men, having concluded their NBA careers, now find themselves among the ranks of NBA coaches. Their lives and the lives of all those who have come through the NBA chapel program in New York have been greatly changed because of the power of faith.

He and his wife, Maureen, live in Abingdon, Maryland, are the parents of two daughters, and have three grandchildren.
